

FANTASY SURVEY - 54013

Fantasy	Rank	Appeal	Try it	Comments
Your husband whisks you away for a surprise romantic and erotic weekend at a clothing optional resort	1	High	Yes	This is my number one because I simply love to spend time with and have leisure time for sex play with my husband. Our best vacation was very nearly like this, except that it was not a surprise. For both of us it is a highlight of our time together, and something we are still trying to find the time and resources to repeat.
Being bound, blind folded, teased, and devoured	2	High	Done	This is an awesome fantasy because it is the height of enjoyment with my husband. He is so good to me, I know what it feels like to give up control to someone whom I trust completely and whose sincere desire is to bring me as much pleasure as possible. It doesn't get any better than this.
To tie up, blind fold, and tease your husband for as long as you wish	3	High	Done	If you couldn't tell, after more than 20 years I am still crazy in love with my husband. Romantic love is always tied up with desire, and fortunately we have kept desire and playfulness very active. I love to give my husband pleasure, and what makes this the best experience is to take away his control. We both spend so much time having to be responsible and in control, and both our escape and the way we reward each other with the intense pleasure that comes from letting go.
Receiving a sensual, erotic massage from a fit, handsome masseur whose techniques and methods are designed to arouse as well as relax	4	High	Done	I guess relaxation is key when we live with so much stress day to day. My husband recently treated me to this experience and it was memorable. It was special because it was remarkably relaxing, but also because it was a gift given with so much love and desire. My husband inexplicably loves me so much that he truly derives pleasure from my pleasure and that promotes trust, intimacy and satisfaction on a deep level.
Being a submissive/slave to your husband	5	High	Done	Enough said, it's exciting to be controlled by someone whom you trust completely, not knowing what's coming and even being nervous that it might be a little out of my comfort zone; but also relieved of being in control and knowing that my pleasure is his chief concern.
Being a dominant and having your husband as your sex slave	6	High	Done	For selfish reasons being submissive only slightly outranks being dominant. But it's also pretty special to know that you can order your husband to do whatever you desire. Just wow.
After a chance meeting with a favorite celebrity that you find extremely attractive, he invites you out for a drink and more	7	MediumHigh	Yes	This is a ways down from the others, but since this fantasy is approved, it's just the sort of thing that my husband would think up to please me. Not sure what "more" I'd be comfortable with in reality, but as a fantasy why not.
Discreetly wearing a remote control vibrator out to dinner with your husband, with him holding/controlling the remote	8	MediumHigh	Yes	This is something that I know my husband would like to do, since he's mentioned it before. Not sure how it would play out in reality, but it would be exciting.
Having sex, however discreetly, in public	9	MediumHigh	Done	It would have to be awfully discreet for my taste, but then it would be, and was the few times that we did it, very exciting to try to keep such intense pleasure a secret.
Being seduced and taken by a tall,	10	MediumHigh	No	Again as strictly a fantasy, if the idea is appealing to my well-toned, distinguished and handsome man (with your husband's knowledge, but without him there)				husband, then why not.

Ravish, and being ravished by a handsome, expert lover while your husband watches.	11	MediumHigh	No	This ranks slightly lower than the last because I would prefer not to be watched. However in both cases this would be fulfilling a fantasy of my husband, so he is more than welcome to take part.
Voyeurism - by chance, surreptitiously watching another couple have sex	12	High	Yes	Good sex scenes in movies are hard to come by, and are very appealing. In person would be a different experience and might be very exciting.
Lying on a table while your husband is standing and fucking you, there is a hard cock for you to stroke or suck attached to a gorgeous man at your side with tight abs and a firm ass waiting to be grabbed.	13	Medium	No	Well I can't say that this ever occurred to me, but in the realm of fantasy this would have some appeal. It might be a turn on if this was my husband's idea since I tend to be very aroused while we're having sex.
Voyeurism - by chance, surreptitiously watching your husband masturbate	14	Medium	Yes	I like watching him masturbate, but I have mixed feelings about him not knowing. He might like it but I would still feel like I should have his permission.
Pegging your husband (anal intercourse from a strap-on)	15	Medium	Yes	I have not had this fantasy, but it might be appealing if my husband were interested.
Partially exposing yourself by dressing provocatively when in a potentially public setting where no one knows either of you (for example, you wear a very low-cut top so a waiter or patron in a restaurant might see down your blouse)	16	Medium	Yes	This is appealing because I know it turns my husband on. When we go out he wants me to dress sexy, though I am more modest than he is (not unusual I'm guessing). If we are going somewhere that there is almost no chance of meeting anyone we know then I try to oblige. He always makes me feel wanted, so I know how blessed I am to have that.
Receiving anal sex	17	Medium	Done	I know my husband likes it so we still do it on occasion, but it's uncomfortable for me since he is pretty large.
Having sex with an attractive friend or relative of your husband	18	MediumLow	No	A fantasy about someone I know is not very appealing. I prefer fantasies about strangers.
Secretly receiving erotic correspondence (mail or email) from a past or distant acquaintance or partner	19	Low	No	I suppose it could be flattering, so as only a fantasy it ranks higher than a few other things. But in reality it would be disturbing, so I've never thought about it.
Voyeurism - by chance, surreptitiously watching another man masturbate	20	Low	No	I am attracted to men but watching a stranger masturbate doesn't have much appeal for me. I would rather watch a couple together.
Having your husband try on panties or lingerie, or perhaps having him wear panties out to dinner with you	21	Low	Yes	This is not something I have ever fantasied about, and wouldn't miss it if we never try it. I probably lack imagination here, but I don't see the appeal.
Having a Male-Male-Female Threesome	22	Low	No	This doesn't have much interest for me, but if my husband were interested then I'd prefer another man to another woman.
Having a Male-Female-Female Threesome	23	Low	No	Again fooling around with more than one person just doesn't appeal to me, though I know this would be on my husband's radar so with him involved it ranks higher than me alone with a woman.
Having a woman/woman erotic	24	Low	No	The only way this would be of any interest at all would be encounter (with your husband's knowledge, but without him present)				to please my husband, so without him there this ranks at the bottom.

Participating with your husband in group sex	25	Low	No	This has no appeal at all for me